Torrance-Lomita Realty Board Urges Port Site for Hospital

Torrance realtors have joined the fight to have the projected Naval Hospital planned for this area put in the San Pedro hills.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Torrance-Lomita Realty Board last Friday, members voted to join with San Pedro urging that the San Pedro hills be chosen for the new naval installation.

In voting the recommendation, board members pointed out that such a location could enable the hospital facilities to be used by both the Army and Navy, including the Fort MacArthur cases.

"It is interesting to note that the Navy already owns the property between Gaffey and Western and Palos Verdes drive, North," C. J. "Paddy" Ryan, president of the board, said this week.

"We feel that this will be worth working for," he said. The Torrance-Lomita group addressed letters to the Chambers of Commerce in the area, to local newspapers, and sent a night letter to Representative

Cecil King in Washington.

Second Torrance Victim Dies

A highway accident near Barstow May 5 claimed its second Torrance victim this week when Mrs. Scharly Viola Steelman, 42, of 20527 South Vermont avenue, died in Harbor General Hospital of injuries suffered in the collision.

Killed instantly in the accident was Kalyin McNutt, 27, of the same address.

A native of Louisiana, Mrs. Steelman had lived in Torrance

Pay-to-Park Charge Faces Auto Owners

"Guess we are going to have to start getting tough," Police Chief John Stroh warned this week.

He was speaking about violators of the all night parking ordinance.

He said he has received innumerable complaints about persons leaving automobiles parked at the curb all night, thus preventing the cleaning of the streets.

"I personally know of some residential streets that have not been swept for three months because the sweeper can not get to the curb," he said.

"From here on in it will cost two dollars to park all night—payable in court," he warned.
